Your recent letter to the Vice President has been referred to this Agency for consideration and reply.

We are always pleased to learn of young people who are interested in careers in the intelligence profession. I am enclosing two brochures which describe our professional and clerical requirements.

As our needs are constantly changing, it is difficult for us to predict what our requirements will be at the time of your graduation. Therefore, I hesitate to counsel you as to what courses you should take. Many courses may lead to employment if the individual has a good academic record. A bachelor's degree or equivalent work experience is normally required to be considered for professional positions with this Organization. I might add that we look on it as a plus when an individual has a knowledge of history, interest in and familiarity with international affairs and a knowledge of foreign languages.

Thank you for your interest in this Agency. Best wishes for continued success in your academic program.

Sincerely,

Robert W. Magee

STAT

Thank you for your recent letter concerning employment opportunities with the CIA.

It was thoughtful of you to write. Your determination to become a linguist and work with the Central Intelligence Agency is commendable. I have asked that your letter be forwarded to officials at the Central Intelligence Agency so they can correspond with you directly about employment opportunities and job qualifications.

Good luck to you as you prepare for your career.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

George Bush
